MOPSYS specializes in healthcare training and offers a catalogue of training modules primarily intended for pharmaceutical companies and healthcare establishments. Our e-learning software lets you customize or create training modules and assess the knowledge and competence of your staff. We are market leaders in these areas. MOPSYS was created in the aim of developing educational systems that associate high-quality content with advanced pedagogical techniques. The teaching method used is based on objectives driven, flexible, customizable and (self-)adaptive training. Our products help our customers to improve their training facilities. We work mainly with pharmaceutical companies, hospitals and healthcare institutions in Belgium, France and Canada.

Thanks to our experience in the academic world and to our connections with the medical profession, we are able to deliver a complete and original solution based on:

- an open, original and modular training system;
- validated and certified content;
- high-quality service.

MOPSYS offers its customers a wide-ranging professional training catalogue covering, among other things, cardiology, the respiratory system, the nervous system, infectiology, pain, hand hygiene, ...

Our Content Publishing System (CPS) helps you create electronic and PDF training courses. Ludi-Elm is a piece of software that creates and manages exercise sessions and tests in order to customize training. The aim of Ludi-Elm is to stimulate users' learning abilities by enabling them to put their knowledge into practice.
